Re: In re Delphi Corporation, et al., Case No. 05-44481 (RDD)

Dear Mr. Hogan:

On behalf of ADAH and the other Plan Investors (other than Goldman Sachs), we write in response to your letter of last night.

First, thank you for sending us a draft of the 1142 Motion. While that has provided us some insight into Delphi's arguments with respect to the issues at bar, and without debating the legal or practical effect of the "notice" of that motion you provided to us in off-the-record status conferences, we are still not in a position to consent to your proposed timeline. Among other things, because the draft is being held on an attorneys' eyes only basis, we will need a reasonable period of time after the filing of the Motion for our clients to review the Motion, provide input to us and review our responsive papers.

Obviously, while we believe that there is currently an insufficient basis for expedited treatment, we cannot file a motion for a continuance/opposition to an expedited hearing until you file the Motion. In the meantime, we want to inform you of our continuing objection. Further, we have on several occasions asked to have you explain the reasoning behind seeking to proceed with the 1142 Motion on such an expedited basis in light of the fact that, regardless of which party prevails on that motion in the Bankruptcy Court, the dispute will not be finally resolved prior to Delphi's anticipated filing of its registration statement (or indeed even before its projected Effective Date). In the absence of a satisfactory explanation, the Plan Investors will insist that Delphi make an evidentiary record on an application properly brought under Rule 9006 before proceeding next Thursday. If we have to proceed down that route, we also hereby demand that you provide us, at least 48 hours in advance of any hearing on such application, all of the documents that Delphi will introduce in connection with such application and the name of any testifying witness.

Second, and this will be no surprise, we do not agree that a hearing on the 1142 Motion can proceed without discovery, nor do we agree that Delphi can avoid discovery relating to its Motion by deeming the hearing as being without a "substantial evidentiary presentation." For the Court to grant the relief requested in the 1142 Motion, we believe that there will need to be a general fact-finding exercise into several specific issues including, among other things, the negotiating history of the applicable provisions of the EPCA, the genesis of the February GM proposal, the current ability of Delphi to raise market-based exit financing, the effects of the GM proposal on Delphi's post-exit business and financial performance, the sufficiency of the exit financing to meet the requirements of the Plan, whether the proposed exit financing is consistent with the EPCA and the Plan, the proposed reduction in the size of the second lien term loan, and Delphi's general liquidity needs post-exit. To that end, we enclose herewith (i) draft deposition notices and document requests directed to Delphi and (ii) draft subpoenae for GM and JPM. The enclosed notices, requests and subpoenae are preliminary given that we have not had an opportunity to obtain input from our clients and we reserve the right to supplement them as necessary. While the response dates on the Delphi discovery cannot be set until the Motion is filed, we thought it would be useful for planning purposes to let you know what we will be requiring in advance of the hearing. We leave it entirely to Delphi's discretion whether to begin its preparation for responding to these notices and requests now or wait until after the formal filing of the Motion, in which case the hearing date may need to be adjourned.

Similarly, while we will withhold serving any subpoenae (or even word of the existence of such subpoenae) until the Motion is publicly filed, if the Motion must be filed, we will serve the subpoenae and therefore insist that you make the matter public on a schedule that allows us sufficient time to conduct limited third-party discovery.

Finally, you have requested a draft of our response to the Motion. Beyond being an extraordinary request in the context of a contested proceeding, we are simply not in a position to provide you with our advance thoughts on a draft that you have expressly stated you "reserve [Delphi's] right to amend or supplement. . . in any respect before presentation to the Court." If Delphi files the Motion and needs additional time to respond to any opposition papers that we might file, we would be happy to discuss providing you with a reasonable period of time for preparing your response.

Please feel free to call me should you have any questions regarding the foregoing. Thank you.

Sincerely,

J. Christopher Shore

2. All documents concerning any proposal, consideration, offer, agreement, commitment or legal obligation by GM to participate in Delphi’s exit financing, including the Proposal (as defined in the Motion), including all communications between and among Delphi, GM, JPM, or Citigroup concerning any such potential participation.

4. All documents and communications concerning internal analyses prepared by GM, JPM, or Citigroup regarding any aspect of the exit financing.

5. All documents concerning communications with potential lenders concerning the Proposal, including all presentations, responses, commitments, expressions of interest, concerns, reservations and issues raised or given by such potential lenders.

6. All communications on or after December 1, 2007 between Delphi, JPM, Citigroup, GM, the Creditors Committee, or the Equity Committee concerning the ability of Delphi to obtain the exit financing.
7. All documents concerning presentations made to potential lenders with respect to the Proposal.
8. All communications with GM concerning the Motion.
9. All documents concerning any amendments to the EPCA.
10. All documents concerning the issuance of debt under the exit financing on an OID basis.
11. All documents concerning basis for the allegation in the Motion that, "The Debtors believe that the probability of the first assumption being realized (i.e., successful completion of exit financing) will be substantially increased by the realization of the second assumption (i.e., proactive cooperation and supportive actions on the part of the Plan Investors)." (Motion para. 2)
12. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, "The Debtors now believe that conditions exist that will allow them to obtain the necessary funding and proceed to consummate the Plan." (Motion para. 4)
13. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, "Indeed, GM's participation greatly increases the likelihood that Delphi will secure total exit financing to fund the Plan and at the same time remain in compliance with the 2008 interest rate condition contained in the EPCA." (Motion para. 4)

14. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, “The participation of GM in the exit financing facilities during this difficult time in the credit markets benefits all of Delphi's stakeholders, including the Plan Investors.” (Motion para. 4)

15. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, “To do otherwise would perpetuate a continuing material uncertainty that likely could impair or completely frustrate the Debtors' ability to syndicate and close their exit financing facilities on a timely basis, thus making ADAH's prophecy that the Debtors cannot consummate the Plan self-fulfilling.” (Motion para. 6)

16. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, “At the time of the financing launch in January, Delphi discussed with the Plan Investors this reduction in the amount of the financing to be sought (going so far as to briefly delay the launch of the exit financing in order to complete those discussions).” (Motion para. 23)

17. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, “During the syndication process in January 2008, it became apparent to Delphi and the Lead Arrangers that the likelihood of consummation of the syndication in its proposed amount, structure, and terms would be improved by GM's participation pursuant to which GM would purchase up to $2 billion of the First-Lien Loan and, if necessary, all of the $825 million Second-Lien Loan without any original issue discount ("OID") and at an interest rate calculated to ensure compliance with the EPCA interest expense limitation.” (Motion para. 25).

18. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, “In the reasonable view of Delphi and its Lead Arrangers, this increased GM participation will allow the Debtors to obtain the remaining exit financing required to consummate the Plan.” (Motion para. 25)

19. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, “Consequently, the parameters of the contemplated exit financing fall within the terms of the confirmed Plan and no amendment to the Plan is necessary to allow Delphi to consummate the exit financing arrangements.” (Motion para. 32)

20. All documents concerning the basis for the allegation in the Motion that, “In fact, however, neither GM's participation in the exit financing or its acceptance of the notes in lieu of cash requires any amendment to the GSA, MRA, or Plan or, for that matter, any other kind of agreement that would be comprehended with the scope of section 5(p).” (Motion para. 40)

21. All documents Delphi intends to introduce into evidence at the hearing on the Motion.

22. Any materials disseminated to Delphi's board of directors regarding the Financing Letter, the Proposal, or the Motion.

23. Any documents concerning whether the Proposal is in the ordinary course of Delphi's business.

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2007, made applicable in cases under the Bankruptcy Code by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure:

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial.

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(d) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) Contempt.

The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).

Rule 45, Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Subdivisions (c), (d), and (e), as amended on December 1, 2007, made applicable in cases under the Bankruptcy Code by Rule 9016, Federal Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure:

(c) Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena.

(1) Avoiding Undue Burden or Expense; Sanctions. A party or attorney responsible for issuing and serving a subpoena must take reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena. The issuing court must enforce this duty and impose an appropriate sanction — which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees — on a party or attorney who fails to comply.

(2) Command to Produce Materials or Permit Inspection.

(A) Appearance Not Required. A person commanded to produce documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things, or to permit the inspection of premises, need not appear in person at the place of production or inspection unless also commanded to appear for a deposition, hearing, or trial.

(B) Objections. A person commanded to produce documents or tangible things or to permit inspection may serve on the party or attorney designated in the subpoena a written objection to inspecting, copying, testing or sampling any or all of the materials or to inspecting the premises — or to producing electronically stored information in the form or forms requested. The objection must be served before the earlier of the time specified for compliance or 14 days after the subpoena is served. If an objection is made, the following rules apply:

(i) At any time, on notice to the commanded person, the serving party may move the issuing court for an order compelling production or inspection.

(ii) These acts may be required only as directed in the order, and the order must protect a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer from significant expense resulting from compliance.

(3) Quashing or Modifying a Subpoena.

(A) When Required. On timely motion, the issuing court must quash or modify a subpoena that:

(i) fails to allow a reasonable time to comply;

(ii) requires a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business in person — except that, subject to Rule 45(c)(3)(B)(iii), the person may be commanded to attend a trial by traveling from any such place within the state where the trial is held;

(iii) requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter, if no exception or waiver applies; or

(iv) subjects a person to undue burden.

(B) When Permitted. To protect a person subject to or affected by a subpoena, the issuing court may, on motion, quash or modify the subpoena if it requires:

(i) disclosing a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information;

(ii) disclosing an unretained expert's opinion or information that does not describe specific occurrences in dispute and results from the expert's study that was not requested by a party; or

(iii) a person who is neither a party nor a party's officer to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial

(C) Specifying Conditions as an Alternative. In the circumstances described in Rule 45(c)(3)(B), the court may, instead of quashing or modifying a subpoena, order appearance or production under specified conditions if the serving party:

(i) shows a substantial need for the testimony or material that cannot be otherwise met without undue hardship; and

(ii) ensures that the subpoenaed person will be reasonably compensated.

(d) Duties in Responding to a Subpoena.

(1) Producing Documents or Electronically Stored Information. These procedures apply to producing documents or electronically stored information:

(A) Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce them as they are kept in the ordinary course of business or must organize and label them to correspond to the categories in the demand.

(B) Form for Producing Electronically Stored Information Not Specified. If a subpoena does not specify a form for producing electronically stored information, the person responding must produce it in a form or forms in which it is ordinarily maintained or in a reasonably usable form or forms.

(C) Electronically Stored Information Produced in Only One Form. The person responding need not produce the same electronically stored information in more than one form.

(D) Inaccessible Electronically Stored Information. The person responding need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. On motion to compel discovery or for a protective order, the person responding must show that the information is not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost. If that showing is made, the court may nonetheless order discovery from such sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limitations of Rule 26(b)(2)(C). The court may specify conditions for the discovery.

(2) Claiming Privilege or Protection.

(A) Information Withheld. A person withholding subpoenaed information under a claim that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial-preparation material must:

(i) expressly make the claim; and

(ii) describe the nature of the withheld documents, communications, or tangible things in a manner that, without revealing information itself privileged or protected, will enable the parties to assess the claim.

(B) Information Produced. If information produced in response to a subpoena is subject to a claim of privilege or of protection as trial-preparation material, the person making the claim may notify any party that received the information of the claim and the basis for it. After being notified, a party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the specified information and any copies it has; must not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved; must take reasonable steps to retrieve the information if the party disclosed it before being notified; and may promptly present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim. The person who produced the information must preserve the information until the claim is resolved.

(e) Contempt.

The issuing court may hold in contempt a person who, having been served, fails without adequate excuse to obey the subpoena. A nonparty's failure to obey must be excused if the subpoena purports to require the nonparty to attend or produce at a place outside the limits of Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(ii).
